

Henry Derozio: The Eurasian Poet, Teacher, and Journalist; With Appendices (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Henry Derozio: The Eurasian Poet, Teacher, and Journalist; With Appendices

Shortly after my arrival in India, I had some thoughts of writing a history of the Eurasian community. I found, however, on closer study of the subject, that, as a community, Eurasians can scarcely be said to have a history. They have founded no empire, built no cities, originated no industry, developed no policy, nor have they created either a philosophy, or a religion, or a school of thought in literature, science, or art. Whole sections of their lower ranks have in the past disappeared entirely among native races, and their higher ranks are being absorbed among pure Europeans.
